DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-46 are pending. Pursuant to Applicant's AMENDMENT the previous Office Action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 36 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 36, lines 1-2, the phrase "containers comprise" is not clear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 1-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mitchell et al., US 6,520,544.

Mitchell discloses tracking via RFID devices reusable containers 48, e.g. Figs. 1, 6, 7, capable of containing different types of goods, e.g. solid goods. Mitchell does not explicitly use the terminology of identifying customers returning reusable containers. However, tracking of which customers return goods has been common knowledge in the art, as is tracking a customers purchase habits, alerting customers when products have arrived for pick-up, making such products available and providing reduced shipping costs.

Clearly, Mitchell's RFID system may have accomplished the task of identifying customers. To have provided tracking of which customers return the containers, along with tracking a customers purchase habits, alerting customers when products have arrived for pick-up, making such products available and providing reduced shipping costs of Mitchell would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. The motivation would have been have provided common knowledge customer service in order to keep/grow a business entities income.
